Sunday Amusements-The Neuendorff Case-The Prohibition Law Sustained.

INTERESTING TO IMPORTERS OF JUTE.

The Case of Ex-Alderman Odell.

OF FIDUCIARY AGENTS. LIABILITIES

In the Court of Arbitration, held yesterday in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, Judge Fancher presiding, the case of Henry Imherst vs. Joseph Bensusan was commenced. The com-plainant sues for damages in consequence of the an initilment of a contract entered into by the parties, whereby defendant was to snip 200 hogsheads of claret from Bordeaux by the ship Indus try to the former.

SUNDAY AMUSEMENTS.

At length, after several days' waiting and deliberating upon the subject, Chief Justice Daly, of the Court of Common Pleas, has given his judicial views upon the Sunday amusement question. His views he embodied in an opinion rendered vesteron behalf of Adolph Neuendorff, proprietor of the Stadt Tuentre, for an injunction against the Police Commissioners, restraining them from interfering with his giving performances at his theatre on Sunday evenings. As will be seen, he declares the act under which the Police Commissioners have proceeded constitutional and denies the application for an injunction. . The following is his opinion:—

Opinion of chief justice daly.

It is claimed that the act is unconstitutional, because it is a local act and the subject of it is not, as the constitution requires, expressed in its title. It is entitled "An act to preserve the public peace and order on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday," and the subject of it is the prohibition of public theatrical performances on that day in the city of New York. A statute designed to preserve the public peace and order upon a sunday need not in its title express what is prohibited in the act, with a view to that end, for it that were so everything prohibited would have to appear in or be expressed by the litle, which would be absurd. It is sufficient if that which is torbiduen to be done comes within the general purpose expressed in the litle, the preservation of public peace and order, and considering this to be the rule of interpretation how can this court declare, judicially, that the prohibiting of public theatrical performances in this city on Sunday does not and cannot in any way equoue to the preservation of peace and proer upon that day? It is argued that in the mabibling of public theatrical performances in this city on Sunday does not and cannot in any way conduce to the preservation of peace and way conduce to the preservation of peace and yrder upon that day? It is argued that in the majority of Christian countries public theatrical performances are permitted on Sunday, to which I may add that in many or most of those countries, after a certain nour, shops are also silowed to be uponed and all service employments carried on the same as upon any other day of the week. In hearly all the States of this Union, however, as well as in the country from which our institutions are derived, no such practice exists, for Sunday is regarded not alone as a day of religious observance, on all as a sunday is a falling merely of religious observance, or especially a tenet of some particular sect." On the contrary, he remarks, "the setting apart by the whole community of one day in seven wherein the thoughts of men and the physical activities shall be turned into another than their accustomed shannels is a thing pertaining as much to the law of nature as is the intervening of the nights between the days. (Bishop on criminal law, vol. 1, p. 846, 4th ed.) We have statutes in this state forbidding any servile laboring or working on that day, excepting works of necessity or charity, unless done by those who keep Saturday p. 986, sth ed.) We have statutes in this state forbidding any servile laboring or working on that day, excepting works of necessity or charity, unless done by those who keep Saturday as their Sabbata, norbidding the saie of goods, wares or merchandise, and forbidding many things from being done which would otherwise be harmless—such as shooting, hunting, fishing, &c., &c.—(1 kev. Statutes, pp. 976, 676)—and like statites exist in other States and in Great Britain. By long established usage, moreover, in this country and in Great Britain, the theatres have been closed upon Sundays, a custom existing so long and so universally possived as to dispense with the necessity of statutory enactments until one or more illustrical proprietors in this city undertook to disregard it some lew years ago, which led to the shactment of the statute in question. The quiet and order upon that day incident to the santting up of all places of public amusement, the absence of all traffic and the cessation from ordinary work and labor, are in marked contrast with the mingled pursuits of business and pleasure on sunday in many of the cities of Continental Europe. In those cities, when the morning religious service is over in the churches, all parties are free to work, labor, traffic or amuse themselves as they think proper; but in our cities the great bulk of the community astend public worship not only in the morning, but in the afternoon, or else in the evening, so that by a very large class the day is observed throughout as a day of religious obligation and duty, while to all it is day of rest from their ordinary employments, and, if they make it so, of quiet and repose. It is this weil from their ordinary employments, and, if they make it so, of quiet and repose, It is they wisk in own leature which gives to the Sunday with us a characteristic element of order, sufficiently distinguished and understood to indicate generally what is meant by the preservation of order on Sunday as expressed in the title to this act, Previous laws ha der on Sunday as expressed in the title to this act. Previous laws have lorbidden all work and labor on that day, except works of necessity and charity, but it the theatres are opened for the giving of public performances, the actors and all employed in giving them violate the statutes forbidding work and labor on Sunday, and an element of order which it was the design of these statutes to maintain is disturbed. There is, therefore, a leature of order which is preserved by keeping the theatres closed upon Sunday, and that being the object of the act it is expressed by the title. The objection that the little does not express that the act is limited to the city of New York is not well taken. All that the constitution requires is that if the act be a local act the subject of the act is distinguishable from its local operation, ascertained by inspecting the body of the act, which renders it voud if the provision of the constitution has not been completed with. Judgment must therefore be rendered for the defendant.

INTERESTING TO IMPORTERS OF JUTE.

The case of Stokes vs. Recknagel & Co., is one of those that affect largely the interests of a large isss of merchants in the city. The action was riginally brought to recover a sum of $25,713 48, m gold, the price of 2,000 bales of jute butts, sold by the plaintiffs through a mercantile house to the defendants, to arrive per ships Taypore and Nag pore. The contract of sale specified the price per pound, actual gross weight, as landed alongside hip in New York or Brooklyn, duty paid; and also grovided that the buyers should have the benefit of any reduction of duty and pay any increase of the same. The goods arrived in June, 1872, and an act of Congress, reducing the duty thereon, was to go into effect on the 1st day of August ioliowing, immediately on arrival of the goods the defendants were hotfied of the fact and asked whether they wisned the goods put in bond. They said they did to obtain the benefit of the reduction of the did. An array on the wessel for the delivery they did to obtain the benefit of the reduction of the duty. An order on the vessel for the delivery of the goods was sent to the delendants, and they replied that all they cared about was the question of weight. The buts were put in bond and a storage receipt issued to the delendants. On presentation of the oill for $25,713 48 the defendants made various objections, not relating, however, to the non-payment of duty, which were obviated. The cause was tried by Mr. D. McMahon and Mr. W. A. Boyd for plainting and Mr. Da Costa for delendants. The learned Judge below dismissed the complaint on the ground that the contract, was entire and indivisible and that plaintings had not put themselves in such a position by delivery or oder of delivery "duty paid" as that they could inforce the contract against the defendants. Var.-Pus legal points were raised by the respective shiorce the contract against the defendants. Various legal points were raised by the respective tounsel, and finally the plainting counsel asked the Court to hold that the request of the defendants to but these goods in bond was a waiver of tender by the plainting under the contract which required the goods to be duty paid. This was denied and the plainting excepted the cause was argued on appeal by Mr. D. McMahon for the plainting and by Mr. Da Costa for delendants. Judge Van Vorst, delivering the plainting were entitled to go to the jury; that the question whether or not defendants had waived compliance by plainting with the provision requiring payment of duty should be revoked and that the dismissal of the complaint was proneous. Stroneous.

Judgment of dismissal reversed and new trial granted.

BUSINESS IN THE OTHER COURTS

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

Assets in Bankruptey. In this Court yesterday, in the matter of Charles H. Hyde, sassgnee, &c., vs. Abraham Cohn and others, Judge Bistehterd rendered a decision as fallows-The bill offices that the bankrupts fraudulently put into the hands of the defendant Cohn certain sums of money which he, after the adjudication in bankruptcy and before the commencement of this suit, paid out, at their reques for the purchase of 725 shares of the stock of the for the purchase of 725 shares of the stock of the New York Shuttle Sewing Machine Company, certificates for which he holds. The bill prays that the plaintiff may be declared to be entitled to the stock, as assets of the estate of the bankrupts, and that he may recover the same from the defendant Cohn. I think the plaintiff has established such claim by the evidence, and as it appears that the defendant Cohn has certificates for the 725 shares still in his possession—certificates for 550 of them being in his own name, and certificates for 175 of them being transferred thereon to him in biank, the plaintiff is entitled to a decree that the defendant Cohn vest in the plaintiff the title to the 725 shares and pay the costs of this suit. The decree will also declare that, as against the plaintiff, the bankrupts and Cohn have no title to the stock or to the moneys with which it was purchased." G. A. Seixas for the plaintiff, R. S. Newcombe for Cohn.

SUPREME COURT-CHAMBERS.

An Ex-Alderman in Trouble.

Before Judge Davis.

Ex-Alderman Odell claims to be the victim of unioriunate circumstances. He keeps a sale and exchange stable in East Twenty-fourth street. nights since, an otter fur robe, some dozen laprobes and about twenty pairs of horse dozen haproses and about twenty pairs of norse blankets, the proceeds of a piliering pilgrimage among gentiemen's stables were found in the hay lott of his stable. He was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen goods, taken before Judge Murray and in default of $5,000 ball committed to await the action of the Grand Jury. A writ of nabeas cor pus having been obtained by Peter Mitchel, his counsel, he was yesterday brought before this counsel, he was yesterday brought before this counsel, he was yesterday brought before this counsel urged that there was no evidence on which he could be held, and proceeded to state that when the stolen property was found five men were discovered asleep on the haymow and four others entering the place for like somnoment purpose; that there was no concealment of the goods; that he (Odell) knew nothing of the goods being there, and that he had not been in the Layloft for two months and only twice in the stable for ten days before his arrest. It was concended that an indictment for receiving stolen could not be sustained without proof of an actual entering into possession. It was stated as a further hardship on the prisoner that he was kept thirty-six hours at Police Headquarters before being taken before a magistrate. Mr. Lyon opposed the application. Judge Davis took the papers for examination.

Another City Marshal Case. blankets, the proceeds of a pillering pilgrimage

Another City Marshal Case. Levy Lippman, a marshal of the Marine Court, having been committed by Judge Spaulding for alleged violation of the recent rule of the Court alleged violation of the recent rule of the Court prohibiting them from serving processes and enforcing executions, Mr. Nathan P. Breen, his counsel, applied yesterday for a writ of habeas corpus in the case, which was granted, and the case set down for a hearing next Monday. The point proposed to be made is that the transcript of judgment in this case was not filed in the County Cierk's office, making it in this respect different from the case of Marshal Phillips, recently before the Court.

COMMON PLEAS-GENERAL TERM.

The Responsibility of Fiduciary Agents.

Before Judge Larremore. In April, 1878, S. L. Simpson was arrested in a Justice Daly on complaint of Emil Nass, the charge eing that Simpson had abstracted about $12,000 being that Simpson had abstracted about $12,000 of pisintiff's money while acting as his general agent. A motion was made to vacate the order of arrest, and on this motion a reference was ordered to examine plaintiff's books. On the reserves report a motion to discharge the defendant was made and argued at length by C. N. Brooke for the defendant and Charles Weble for the plaintiff, as also a motion by the plaintiff to vacate the referee's report. Upon this Judge Larremore made an order granting the motion to vacate the referee's report and denying the motion to vacate the order of arrest, and also directing the defendant to pay to plaintiff the costs of motion and disbursements on the reference. To give more explicitness to the case Judge Larremore, in addition to the order, has written the following opinion: "The practice is well settled that when expicitness to the case Judge Larremore, in addition to the order, has written the following opinion: "Toe practice is well settled that when the ground of the arrest constitutes or tends to constitute the cause of action, a bare denial of the plaintiff's allegations in this respect will not per se, authorize the detendant's discharge. The onus in such a case is upon the applicant to show that he has an undoubted detence on the merits, which will be certainly established on the trial. The examination of the accounts between the parties tails to establish such a defence. The not profits claimed to have been earned appear to have been ascertained from an estimate made in part upon assets claimed to be doubtful. The defendant had entire charge and control of the business, and having assumed a statement or the accounts, upon which, before a final settlement, he had drawn his share of the profits, should, as between his principal and himseli, be held to the responsibility of his own act. Having acted in a fiduciary capacity the burden is upon him to show the bond fides of his transactions and the proper application and disposition of the property of his principal; but an issue should not be determined on a motion, but upon the trial of the action. The application to discharge from arrest is interiore dealed, with costs to abide the event of the action."

TOMBS POLICE COURT. It Cost Him $110.

Before Judge Murray.

Mr. John D. Jones, who is or has been stopping at Sweeney's Hotel for some time past, went out for a walk on Friday night, and happened to mee Miss Addie Clark, who kindly offered to accompany Miss Addie Clark, who kindly offered to accompany him on his travels. He accepted ner kind offer. In a short while John became solicitons regarding the safety of $280 which he had in his vest pocket, so he took it out of his pocket and put it down into the leg of his pants, from whence he thought the lady took it. He raised a row, and Timothy Oates came up to see what was the matter. Timothy showed John his money wrapped up in a piece of paper lying on the floor. John grabbed it and left the house, nor did he turn until he was inside the hotel. When he got there he found that there was only $150 instead of $200 in the paper. Owing to these facts John had Addie arrested, and Judge Murray held her in default of $5,000 to answer at the Court of General Sessions.
